“I want you to write down what we are talking about today, you have a world expert teaching us, “ said Dr. Oz to a full studio audience, referring to Dr. LoGiudice.

The medical research team at the Dr. Oz show chose Dr. Pina LoGiudice, naturopathic physician and acupuncturist, for her expertise in natural medicine. The subject of the 6-minute piece was botanical medicines as natural antibiotics. Dr. LoGiudice discussed the effective and safe home use of manuka honey, goldenseal, Oregon grape, and andrographis for infectious conditions such as wound care, upper respiratory infections and urinary tract infections.

A viewing party will take place for the airing at the Viana Hotel and Spa at 3998 Brush Hollow Road Westbury, NY.

Dr. LoGiudice has a thriving naturopathic and acupuncture practice in both Huntington and New York City with her husband, Dr. Peter Bongiorno. She can be reached through www.InnerSourceHealth.com.
