At 43 Rockefeller center in New York City, Dr. Pina LoGiudice was interviewed this morning on the national hit show “The Dr. Oz Show.”

“I want you to write down what we are talking about today, you have a world expert teaching us, “ said Dr. Oz to the full studio audience, referring to Dr. LoGiudice.

The medical research team at the Dr. Oz show chose Dr. Pina LoGiudice for her expertise in natural medicine. The subject of the 6-minute piece was botanical medicines as natural antibiotics. Dr. LoGiudice discussed the effective and safe home use of manuka honey, goldenseal, Oregon grape, and andrographis for infectious conditions such as wound care, upper respiratory infections and urinary tract infections.

The piece is scheduled to air in June 2011. Dr. LoGiudice has a thriving practice in both Huntington and New York City with her husband, Dr. Peter Bongiorno. She can be reached through www.InnerSourceHealth.com.
